An Introduction Newcomer's Corner

If you are a newcomer to the City of Pinckneyville, the inaugural edition of the Pinckneyville Fact Book is especially for you. And, if you are new in town, we want you to know that we're glad you are here. We want you to become settled in as soon as possible.

Pinckneyville is known as the "Friendly Little City." People are going to speak to you as you travel about town. If you are from a larger community, you may find this a bit different. You will be greeted with a smile and a "Good Morning". You will find our merchants will be interested in you as a person as well as a customer. In a short period of time you will be on a first name basis with many people in the community.

You will find our residents will invite you to church services, to civic club meetings and sporting events.

As a newcomer, you will be amazed at how peaceful and crime-free this community is. We have many life-long citizens who have never learned to lock their houses. The police department in Pinckneyville is professional and efficient. Law enforcement officers know everyone and know how to prevent crime before it happens. The Fire Department and Volunteer Ambulance Service employees and volunteer workers are very dedicated.

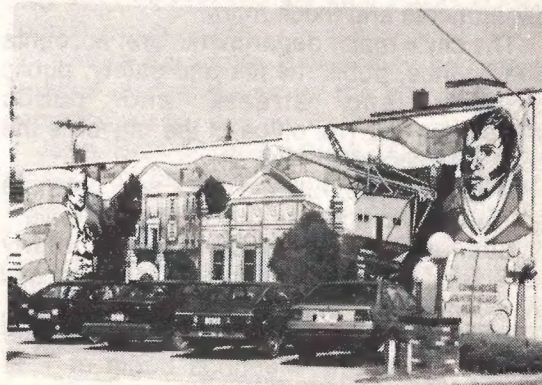

This fact book will give you basic information about Pinckneyville, about city services, its schools, recreational assets and information about where to find the services you need. If you need more information, we will get it for you.

Once again, we welcome you to the City of Pinckneyville--the "Friendly Little City"--and we hope you enjoy your stay.

City & County Government at a Glance

Pinckneyville City Government

The City of Pinckneyville operates under the commissioner form of government. In 1929 an election was held to change the form of Pinckneyville's government to the present mayor and commissioner system. The mayor and commissioners are elected at large to a four-year term of office. The mayor and city council set all policies, adopt all city ordinances, are responsible for the Municipal Utility Company, streets, public health, public safety, public improvements, police and fire departments and much more.

The city's major departments are: accounts and finance, public health and safety, public property and streets and public improvements. The office of the mayor is the chief administrator of the city.

A total of 28 fulltime and two parttime employees work for the City of Pinckneyville.

Business is conducted at regularly scheduled council meetings held the first and third Monday of each month at the city hall, located at 104 South Walnut Street in the council chambers. Meetings begin at 7:30 p.m.

Current Tax Levies in City of Pinckneyville

The tax levy for the City of Pinckneyville for the 1993 tax year is as follows: Total--$214,950. The rate was 1.3294.

Perry County Government

Perry County has a commission form of government administered by three county commissioners. In 1993 they are Leonard "Whitey" Heisner, Mrs. Delores Kellerman and Gene Rodely. Perry County was established January 19, 1827. It was named for Oliver Hazard Perry, an American naval officer. Later, in 1927, Pinckneyville was established as the county seat.

Elected and appointed officials in Perry County in 1993 are Circuit Clerk Robert Heisner, County Clerk Don Hirsch; Sheriff Sam Hiller, Highway Superintendent Roy Smith; State's Attorney David Stanton; Treasurer Frank Mangin; and Assessor Robin Edwards. The county also has a solid waste management office and a bi-county superintendent of schools.

Pinckneyville City History At a Glance

The City of Pinckneyville enjoys the distinction of being one of the oldest incorporated cities in the State of Illinois.

Settled in 1827 as the county seat of Perry County (established January 19, 1827), Pinckneyville was named for General Charles Cotesworth Pinckney (1746-1825) of Charleston, South Carolina. Pinckney was a revolutionary war patriot.

Known records indicate that the the "city" in 1834 consisted of two stores, one tavern, one grocery, a few dozen families and was surrounded by a large settlement of industrious farmers. The farmers were supplied by the mill, blacksmith, implement dealers and buyers for produce and livestock. Coal mining and farming have been the major industries of the area. In contemporary times the community has enjoyed the addition of Decca Records (MCA, now UNI), U.S. Gypsum (now G.S. Metals) and an assortment of moderate-sized industries.

Records indicate that Perry County's first jail was built in Pinckneyville in 1833-1834. The second jail was built in 1871 and the present jail was built in 1987 and serves not only Perry County, but the state and federal corrections departments.

Perry County's first courthouse was built in 1828 on the square in the center of Pinckneyville. Back then, county seats and their courthouses were established in central locations so that farmers would not have so far to ride to conduct their business. The second courthouse was completed in the fall of 1837. The third was completed in December of 1850 and the present courthouse was remodeled and added to in 1938-1939.

After World War II, some ambitious young men seeking a way to help their community in industrial acquisition, formed the Junior Chamber of Commerce to assist the existing Chamber of Commerce. At this time, there was only two factories in Pinckneyville, the Pyramid Coal Co. and the Forest City Manufacturing Co. Farming was the number one industry then and still is today.

The Jaycees merged with the Chamber of Commerce to form an industrial team. In 1952, this team built a shell industrial building for the Belco Fan Co. of St. Louis. Unfortunately, the Belco Fan Co. was unable to fulfill their agreement and could not occupy the new building. After much frantic work, the committee sold the building to Penick and Ford, the makers of My-T-Fine Pudding.

In 1957, Decca Records located here. In 1993, the company continues to operate under the name of UNI Corporation. A million dollar incentive package provided by the State of Illinois and the City of Pinckneyville will result in the production of compact disks in the community in the years to come.

The City of Pinckneyville purchased the MY-T-Fine facility and is currently leasing it to UNI Corporation for storage.

In 1961, Perry Metals located east of the community and today operates as G.S. Metals.

Since then, the community has attracted industries like Contempri Homes and Mobile Structures & Manufactured Home Center.

The city is also in the middle of establishing an industrial park on the near west side of the city and can offer industrial sites to the east of the city.

The Kunz Opera House for many years was the cultural center of the city. Now, it is part of the square's retail district. Photo from the Collection of Robert Morefield.

"The Friendly Little City"

The History is Ours — The Future is Yours

With Help of Illinois Legislators, City Keeps UNI Here; Expansion Is Planned

A recent incentive agreement between the city of Pinckneyville, the state of Illinois, and UNI will keep one of the areas most long standing industries intact.

This is just one of the city's efforts to improve employment and industry in Pinckneyville.

The city of Pinckneyville is giving $1.5 million in incentives to UNI Distribution Corp. to keep 275 jobs and add another 60 more high technology and higher paying jobs in the next two years.

UNI Distribution Corp. officials said that its Pinckneyville plant will be staying and expansion is soon to follow. The company had received offers from about three other cities and was requesting incentives to stay in Pinckneyville. The plant already employs about 275 people, who would have lost there jobs if the plant relocated.

UNI Distribution Corp. expects to begin limited compact disc production by July 1994 and to reach the plant's planned capacity of about 3 million discs per month by the second quarter of 1995, according to Peter Scifres, UNI's senior vice president of manufacturing and operations.

"I want to thank the plant staff, our engineering and quality assurance group, officials of the city of Pinckneyville and the state of Illinois, and local utilities for their hard work in putting together a first class technical and financial proposal that will enable us to make this project a reality," Scifres wrote in a press release sent to the newspaper.

The company was asking for a more competitive electricity rate, lower sewer and water rates, and support for high technology training. Pinckneyville Mayor Joe Holder said city officials have been working with UNI officials for about five months.

"They were not asking for a free ride," Holder said. "They needed incentives."

The company will not get a tax abatement for the sewer system, Holder said. It would have to pay the normal rate required of others.

The city is providing a one-time amount of $1.5 million for improvements to the water, sewer, and sub-electrical work. UNI will be investing about $16 million in equipment and improvements to the plant.

The state could provide money for training, State Rep. Gerald Hawkins said. Up to $2,000 for each of the 60 new employees and 30 current employees could be given, he said.

Dedication an Ongoing Commitment for Departments

Police Protection

The Pinckneyville Police Department is composed of five full-time officers, and one part-time officer and one secretary. The Police Department is located in the city hall complex. Radio dispatch is contracted with the Perry County Sheriff's Department. Round-the-clock patrols of residences and businesses occur throughout Pinckneyville. Cooperation with the County sheriff and the State Police plus many other local law enforcement agencies assures that the entire area is provided with regular and specialized services. The Pinckneyville Police Department has been instrumental in the Perry County Drug Task Force's work and also boasts its own K-9 dog and training officer.

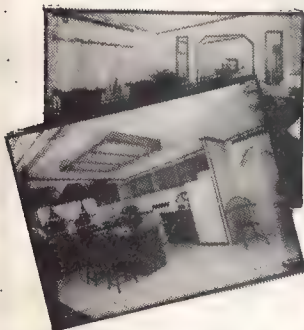

Fire Protection

The Pinckneyville City and Rural Fire Protection District serves Pinckneyville and a large portion of Perry County, approximately 172 square miles. The Fire District is staffed by one fulltime fireman and 24 volunteer firemen and has five pumpers, a brush truck, equipment truck, fully equipped rescue truck, and a mobile power unit. Within the corporate limits of Pinckneyville, there is a Class 7 insurance rating.

New City of Pinckneyville Water Tower is part of the capital investment being made in the community. The city and chamber of commerce are working hard to attract new industry to the area.

Facts About Transportation in the Pinckneyville Area

Pinckneyville Area Highways

Pinckneyville is directly served by three state highways, routes 127, 13 and 154. The city is also a short distance from Interstate 64 (25 minutes), Interstate 70 (40 Minutes) and Interstate 57 (40 Minutes). Together, these highways provide access to one-third of the nation's population, or most major U.S. markets, overnight. Sixteen interstate motor freight carriers, two local cartages, and package delivery services are available or located in Pinckneyville.

Rail Service

A main line of the Missouri Pacific and Illinois Central Gulf railroads runs through Pinckneyville and local service is available. Outstanding transfer and switching facilities at the St. Louis Rail Gateway (the nation's second largest) are quickly and easily accessible from Pinckneyville. Passenger rail service is available via Amtrak service at nearby Du Quoin only 14 miles away or Carbondale only 30 miles away.

Airport Transportation

The Pinckneyville-Du Quoin Airport is located only six miles south of the city on Illinois Route 127/13. The facilities there include charger service, storage and maintenance for private aircraft, and a 4,000-foot, lighted, hard-surface runway. Lambert International Airport (St. Louis) provides air freight forwarding, all-cargo and passenger service.

Merchants Grain Co. a major agricultural industry in Pinckneyville. Local grain goes all over the world.

Inland Waterways

Public docks on the Mississippi River are available to industry within 28 miles of Pinckneyville. The Jackson County River Terminal at Gorham, Illinois handles coal, grain, steel and logs; has 10 acres of storage capacity, and is accessible by the Missouri Pacific rail line. Petroleum, general cargo, and liquid bulk commodities are handled, and U.S. customs service is available, at public terminals in the nearby St. Louis/Granite City area.

Pinckneyville-Du Quoin Airport Chronology at a Glance

1976--Mines give up 150 acres of land costing $180,000. One stipulation that we build an airport in 5 years, this we did.

1977--The Pinckneyville Chamber of Commerce and Du Quoin Business Association donate $2,500 each for engineering.

1977--Build hangar blacktop in and around hangar and built sod runway at cost of $203,000.

1979--Received a federal grant for present runway and lighting system in amount of $584,000.

1984--Installed directional beacon in the amount of $18,000.

1989--Construction of parking lot and bid-letting on expansion project that will give airport a runway of 4,000 feet by 60 feet at a cost of $767,000.

1990--Runway extension begun along with supportive improvements to this valuable asset.

1993--Airport board and cities will consider matching funds for a $425,000 runway repaving project and replacement of non-protected fuel tank. Airport is paying its way and will begin charter service this year.

Facts About Pinckneyville's Churches

United Methodist Church

Trinity Lutheran Church

All churches in Pinckneyville, with the exception of the Christian Church, Oak Grove Baptist Church, Holt's Prairie Baptist church, and Nine Mile Baptist church, are represented in the Pinckneyville Ministerial Alliance. Twice a year the churches come together to sponsor community Thanksgiving and Good Friday worship services. Some of the churches hold joint services during the lenten season.

The Pinckneyville Ministerial Alliance is a strong factor for Christian unity in Pinckneyville. The Ministerial Alliance sponsors cooperative work in the community on behalf of migrants and transients. It also exerts an influence for community action in areas of welfare and human rights.

The Nine Mile Baptist Association sponsors a food pantry at its downtown location. A clothing ministry is located at the First Baptist Church.

Lake Sallateeska is located approximately 9 miles North of Pinckneyville on Illinois Route 127. Sallateeska is a Baptist camp and its wooded facilities draw campers and events year-round. The camp features a lodge, cabins, and lake. Camps are usually held in the summer.

Complete Home Care

Are you worried that you or a loved one may have to go to a nursing home? With assistance, people can continue to live independently in the privacy and comfort of their own homes. Our staff of registered nurses, certified nurse aides, licensed practical nurses, physical therapist and aide, speech therapist, and a medical social worker can provide whatever level of care is needed. We also offer services of an enterostomal therapy nurse who specializes in ostomy and wound care. We establish a plan of care with the help of the patient and his family to provide the needed services. These services do not include custodial care.

Our Hospice services offer continuity of care throughout a terminal illness with the help of an interdisciplinary team.

We also supply medical equipment including oxygen, bathroom aids, wheel chairs, walkers and hospital beds.

Primary and Secondary Education

Public education in Pinckneyville is provided by Pinckneyville grade School District 50. District 50 serves Pinckneyville, rural Coulterville, Winkle, Swanwick and other areas surrounding the City of Pinckneyville. Students east of the Pinckneyville city limits attend the Consolidated 204 school district, a small rural school which has provided an excellent curriculum for its students for a number of years.

St. Bruno Catholic School and Pinckneyville Christian Academy are the local parochial schools. Both offer a diverse curriculum for their students. The different grade schools in the Pinckneyville area offer various extracurricular activities.

Pinckneyville Community High School serves students in an area of 289 square miles in Perry and Washington Counties. Recognized by the Illinois State Board of education as being an ideal size high school with an average student population of 540, PCHS is small enough to provide personal attention to students and yet large enough to offer and sustain a varied and diverse curriculum. A student has the opportunity to enroll in a four-year sequence in each of the following: Spanish, agriculture, industrial arts, business, home economics, social studies, science, English, mathematics, fine arts, agriculture and industrial technology. The PCHS curriculum also allows for individual differences and provides remedial tracking, Chapter I tutoring, a gifted program, as well as a special education program.

PCHS prides itself on excellence in all phases of its education program. It is also a member of the newly organized River-to-River Conference. The school is known statewide for its award winning programs in marching band, FFA, basketball, girls' softball and cheerleading. The school has been highly competitive in Southern Illinois in volleyball, baseball, track, cross country, football, wrestling and golf. Other noteworthy programs for students include VICA, Music Makers, Black Masque Drama Club, FHA and Student Council.

Cooperative Agreement Helps Du Quoin and Pinckneyville Hospitals Improve County Care

Recently, the boards of directors of both hospitals in Du Quoin and Pinckneyville began breaking ground for countywide health care cooperation that could eventually lead to a merger of the two institutions.

Marshall Browning Hospital is a private "not-for-profit" hospital licensed for 60 beds and currently using 33 beds. Pinckneyville Community Hospital is a quasi-public facility with a tax base licensed for 91 beds and currently using 41.

Marshall Browning administrator Tony Turk and Pinckneyville's John Bennett said both hospitals enjoy exceptional programs and staffs that should share resources for the common good instead of working separately to "just survive."

Bennett cited the exceptional obstetrics center at Marshall Browning which is currently responsible for the delivery of some 200 new babies a year. Pinckneyville has one doctor which delivers babies--Dr. Beth Bigham--but the hospital does not offer delivery services. In the same vein, the Pinckneyville Community Hospital currently has one of the most respected skilled care centers in Southern Illinois. Marshall Browning does not yet offer such a unit.

The commonalities are broad. Du Quoin nurses and supervisors live in Pinckneyville. Pinckneyville health care professionals live in Du Quoin.

Pinckneyville has access to a mobile MRI imaging unit. Du Quoin has not yet contracted for the unit. Du Quoin offers a top quality physical therapy department and the two hospitals have shared therapy personnel.

Pinckneyville currently offers a model home health care program which leases space at Marshall Browning Hospital.

Turk and Bennett said that at the present time none of shared services have been reduced to contracts and no money is changing hands except for rent for home health care services space at Marshall Browning. Turk and Bennett said that hospitals aren't engaging in referrals at the present time.

But, it is obvious that the big payoff would come if in the coming years the two boards could agree on a merger of the hospitals. At some point it would be decided whether the hospitals would be better off to operate with or without a tax base and those decisions depend on the political course health care takes.

A countywide unit would also help in buying supplies and in recruiting doctors. Bennett said that a search firm might charge each hospital, say $24,000, to find a new community doctor. It would be more attractive for both hospitals to split the cost.

The list goes on. Bennett said Marshall Browning Hospital has a computerized payroll software package it likes and there is no reason why Marshall Browning couldn't handle the Pinckneyville hospital payroll as a tradeoff for services that PCH could supply Marshall Browning hospital.

According to Bennett, "Tony (Turk) and I have concluded that we want to do whatever it takes to survive. We are just looking at two health care facilities five or 10 years down the road."

Discussions between the administrators and their boards will be ongoing as both hospitals find ways to share services, cut costs and provide quality health care for Perry County.

Facts About Popular Pinckneyville Recreational Areas

The Pinckneyville City Park (Perry County fairgrounds) is a 40-acre recreation area located on the west side of Pinckneyville. the park is open all year and is the scene for community sports activities, mostly in the warm weather months. The community ball diamonds are located in the park and the Khoury and community league ball games are played on these diamonds. the municipal swimming pool, tennis courts, pavilions and other various activities are located within the park. The park hosts the Perry County Fair and the Threshermen's Association convention, various horse shows and civic and social events.

Pinckneyville baseball and softball leagues hold sign-up the last Saturday in February and the first Saturday in March. There are no sign-ups after the team selections unless the child has just moved into the area. There is a nominal insurance fee. A Board of Directors is selected each year. All children are welcome ages 6-18.

Bender Municipal Swimming Pool is located near the city park, and usually opens after Memorial Day and closes near Labor Day. season passes are available at the pool. The pools is the headquarters for the Optimist

Swim Team, as well.

The Perry County Country Club is located four miles East of Pinckneyville and provides the area with an 18-hole golf course, a pro shop, driving range and carts. Resident and non-resident yearly memberships for families and individuals are available. Scrambles and tournaments are also held. there is also a restaurant and bar that invites banquets, meetings and parties to take advantage of their facilities at a small fee.

Pyramid State Park is located southwest of Pinckneyville on Illinois 152 which is commonly known as Pyatt's Blacktop. The park, however, has many entrances and has over 2,500 acres of wilderness park containing dozens of lakes ideal for fishing. There are plenty of bass, blue gill, channel cat and red ear. Jugging and trout lines are banned. Pole and line fishing only is allowed.

The area abounds with wildlife. beaver, rabbit, dove, fox, deer, squirrel, coyotes, etc. can be found here. Animals that can be hunted in the park are rabbit, squirrel, quail, dove and deer. Hunting is permitted under strict regulations. Hunters must check with the office. Hunting is allowed only during regular hunting seasons.

Special Events

Pinckney Days is held each spring in downtown Pinckneyville. The name of this event comes from Col. Charles Cotesworth Pinckney, who Pinckneyville is named for. This event hosts a carnival, all-day flea market, auction, quilt show and music.

Perry County Fair is usually held in early summer at the Pinckneyville City Park, which is also known as the Perry County Fairgrounds. Annual events are horse racing, tractor pulls, queen contest and a demo derby, among other events.

American Thresherman Association's Annual Steam, Gas and Threshing Show, which lets you step into the past. It is held at the Pinckneyville City Park each year on the third weekend in August (Thursday through Sunday). This event features steam and tractor powered plowing, wheat threshing, animal teams, wood veneering, saw milling, shingle milling, blacksmithing, baker fans, grist mills, miniature models, stationary gas and steam engines, and antique tractor activities. also, an antique swap meet, antique auto show, outdoor worship and memorial service, pedal tractor pull for children, miniature steam railroad and a large flea market. There is a daily "Parade of Power" and continuous attractions.

St. Bruno Catholic Church Parish Picnic is held annually on the third Saturday of July. the location for this event is the church grounds located on North Gordon and Sullivan streets. It's a time to renew old acquaintances and make new friends as you enjoy games, barbecue pork steak and fried chicken dinners, quilt and towel bingo, dancing to two bands (one inside the air conditioned Knights of Columbus Hall and one on the out door basketball court.) Beer, soft drinks, lemonade, and a variety of food stands are also located on the grounds for this event. An early mass is also held.

Thresherman Association's Annual Fall Show, the third weekend in October (Friday-Saturday).

Pinckneyville Chamber of Commerce's Mardi Gras Halloween celebration is usually held on the last Saturday of October. This Halloween festival features a 10K run, all-day flea market, queen coronation, contests for young and old, marching band field show contest and an evening parade. The evening parade is marshalled by unidentified Pinckneyville residents disguised as Colonel Pinckney and two aides. The parade draws approximately 20,000 people from across Southern Illinois.

$1.5 Million in Incentives Keeps UNI in Perry County

By Annette Holder
The city of Pinckneyville is giving $1.5 million in incentives to UNI Distribution Corp. to keep 275 jobs and add another 60 more high-paying jobs in the next two years.

UNI Distribution Corp. officials said on Wednesday that the Pinckneyville plant will be staying and expansion is soon to follow. The company had received offers from about three other cities and was requesting incentives to stay in Pinckneyville. The plant already employs about 275 people, who would have lost their jobs if the plant relocated.

The plans are currently tentative, said Rep. Gerald Hawens said, but he believes that the expansion will be a sure thing. UNI Distribution Corp. expects to begin limited compact disc production by July 1994 and to reach the plant's planned capacity of about 3 million discs per month by the second quarter of 1995, by the second quarter of 1995, according to Rep. Scifres. UNI's senior vice president of manufacturing and operations, "I want to thank the plant staff, our engineering and quality control group, officials of the city of Pinckneyville and the state of Illinois, and local utilities for their hard work in putting together a first class technical and financial proposal that will enable us to make this project a reality," Scifres wrote in a press release sent to the newspaper.

The company was asking for a more conservative electricity rate, lower sewer and water rates, and support for high technology training. Pinckneyville Mayor Joe Holder said city officials have been working with UNI officials for about five months. "They were not asking for a free ride," Holder said. "They needed incentives."

The company will not get a tax abatement for the sewer system, Holder said. It would have to pay the normal rate required of others. The city is providing a one-time amount of $1.5 million for improvements to the water, sewer, and sub-electrical work. UNI will be investing about $16 million in equipment and improvements to the plant.

The rate could provide money for training, Hawens said. Up to $2,000 for each of the 60 new employees and 30 current employees could be given, he said.

We are proud to bring you this Pinckneyville Fact Book. When you need to know what's happening in Perry County from day to day, look to the Du Quoin Evening Call.
